

Artist: René Magritte

René Magritte was born in Lessines, Belgium in 1898, and died in 1967. Magritte was a Surrealist painter and was part of the Surrealist Movement. He is best known for his painting The Son of Man (1946). He often put himself in his paintings, but always hid his face behind a bird or apples.

Artist: René Magritte

René Magritte was born in Lessines, Belgium in 1898, and died in 1967. Magritte was a Surrealist painter and was part of the Surrealist Movement. He is best known for his painting The Son of Man (1946). He often put himself in his paintings, but always hid his face behind a bird or apples.

Artist: René Magritte

René Magritte was born in Lessines, Belgium in 1898, and died in 1967. Magritte was a Surrealist painter and was part of the Surrealist Movement. He is best known for his painting The Son of Man (1946). He often put himself in his paintings, but always hid his face behind a bird or apples.

Artist: René Magritte

René Magritte was born in Lessines, Belgium in 1898, and died in 1967. Magritte was a Surrealist painter and was part of the Surrealist Movement. He is best known for his painting The Son of Man (1946). He often put himself in his paintings, but always hid his face behind a bird or apples.

Artist: René Magritte

René Magritte was born in Lessines, Belgium in 1898, and died in 1967. Magritte was a Surrealist painter and was part of the Surrealist Movement. He is best known for his painting The Son of Man (1946). He often put himself in his paintings, but always hid his face behind a bird or apples.